

Nowadays ,we cannot imagine our life without Internet. It became much easier to communicate with each other. We use this wonder of computer technology everywhere. My dream is to create my own site, and that is why, I 'm here.

I think each person can have his own site. On the one hand, you can easily tell the world about yourself and share

news and impressions with your friends, publish your articles and presentations, teach distantly, discuss different questions

and problems. It's cool!

On the other hand , managing an own site takes a lot of time .Moreover Spending too much time in front of the monitor is undesirable for people who spent a lot of time indoors.

But ,Nothing ventured, nothing gained!
