Your poems are so strong for me,
Your poems are exiting.
And there's no louder than you,
And there're no better writings.

Nature attracts behind itself,
Because of your expression,
You love it more, than love yourself,
And poetry is not a profession.

Your name is known to all as Shakspeare's name,
Your verses are deep as water.
Your never talk about the same,
One word: you're a wonderful author!

Talent was given by God,
But not without difficulties and deprivation,
Many may read you forever,
Because of your imagination.

And what to do if I write,
To look at it from other side...

Your verses are deep as water.
Right you are!
Wish success.
