Дорогие коллеги!

Представляю для Вашего внимания методическую статью.

Abstract. A methodology, which forms a system of techniques presuming semantized presentation of lexical units, their memory assimilation in class, which presupposes formation of semantic associations in the pupil's mind, and regular reviving lexical units in the memory, has been proposed. The associations are formed on the basis of work with combinations of lexical units. Such an approach elevates the efficiency of learning lexical units and provide for their more efficient memorization.

Keywords: methodology; presentation of lexical units; assimilation of lexical units; formation of associations; reviving lexical units; memorization.
